Summer Term 1 Week1

This week: Welcome back ! We have already been busy learning the difference between Fiction and Non-Fiction books and have discovered that some story, fiction books also give us lots of information just as Non-Fiction books do. The children have read and looked at the above books – can they tell you which one is which ? We were also very lucky and had a visitor to the classroom on Friday. He was soft and furry and liked to nibble carrots. Ask your child who he was? What else can they tell you about him ? Help your child to 'speak in sentences' when they explain.

Next Week : We will continue our work on Non-Fiction, information books and begin to look at the life-cycle of a butterfly.

STARS OF THE WEEK

AM: For sharing his Easter Holiday experiences and reading us his lovely story he wrote about a big house and a spider !

ICP: For eagerly showing us all the writing he has been practising at home.

Well Done to you both ☺

Summer Dates:

Whoops – Sorry folks at the end of last term I informed you that Tuesday 2nd May the school would be closed for local elections – Obviously elections are always on Thursdays. So....

Thursday 2nd May SCHOOL CLOSED being used as a Polling Station

Please also note that if we have to take part in MEP (European elections) on Thursday 23rd May school will also be closed again then.

Wednesday 1st May Class Photos

Tuesday 7th May Eye Infirmary in school doing Eye Tests for F2 children.

Wednesday 8th May Possible visit to Devonport Theatre for F2 children to watch a show – let me know if you are available as a parent helper

If this goes ahead we would then have a day of drama workshops ending in a 'show' that the parents could come and see on Monday 13th May. I am hoping to get arrangements confirmed soon and will let you know.

Friday 24th June Non Pupil Day

Thank you so much to all of you who completed the holiday challenges and uploaded photographs on Tapestry. We can see just how busy you have all been. If you have not done so yet there is still time. If any of you are having problems activating your account or logging on please let us know.

Many Thanks From Your Foundation Stage 2 Teaching Team
